10,000 FIGHT FOR WORK IN FORD AUTO FACTORY

By Associated Press.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 12.—A crowd estimated at 10,000 seeking employment this morning at the plant of the Ford Motor Car Company, started a serious demonstration when they were told after they stood in the freezing cold for several hours that work could not be given them today. An officer was knocked down, his clothes partially torn off and bricks and other missiles were hurled through the windows and doors of the factory. After a fire hose had been turned on the rioters they dispersed. Five arrests were made. Efforts of policemen to turn the crowd away from the factory started the trouble.

"We can't stand here and freeze to death," shouted some of the leaders. Several hundred managed to get inside the building before the trouble makers were under control.

The temperature registered 9 degrees above zero and many of the men had been standing in line since long before daylight. Announcement by the company of a $10,000,000 profit sharing distribution among its employees in 1914 has brought thousands of employment seekers to the plant during the last week, but the first serious trouble was experienced today.

The profit sharing plan went into effect today.

LOCAL BANKERS EXPRESS VIEWS ON CURRENCY LAW

The Herald Has Asked Washington Bankers for Their Opinion of the New Regional Bank Law, and Its Probable Effect—Two Bankers Have Already Made Response.

In response to a request made by The Herald, for the views of local bankers on the new currency law and its probable effect on business, two of the bankers, Mr. A. S. Ballard, of the Commercial bank, and Mr. C. U. Armstrong, of the Washington Savings bank, have already made reply.

The bankers are in close touch with financial affairs, and must, in order to succeed, be close observers and good judges of business conditions, and the views of local bankers on the new currency law, are of general interest.

Other local bankers have been requested to give their views and will probably do so later.

Mr. Ballard says:

"Editor Herald:
"Inasmuch as the leading financial minds of the country are at sea as to the merits of the new Federal Reserve Act, the views of small country bankers who are only indirectly interested can have but little value. However, since you ask it, I will say that it should be remembered that the central idea of this legislation, namely to increase the facility with which cash and credit can be mobilized is not new. With the Regional bank feature added, the Federal Reserve Act is little more than the Aldrich Central Bank plan in disguise. The regional feature is undoubtedly an improvement, because it brings the sources of credit nearer to the people than if credit were dispensed from one center more or less remote. Not even its most earnest opponents have refused to accord merit to the general plan of the act; but it has the misfortune to have been jammed through Congress by an overwhelming partisan majority, thereby depriving the measure of the benefit of the critical opposition it would have encountered in a more evenly divided Congress. Fundamental legislation by huge partisan majorities is always to be viewed with disfavor, for the advantage of critical suggestion by both friend and foe is thereby lost. However, the Federal Reserve Act is an accomplished fact. Banks must deal with the situation as it stands; and if there is an apparent rush to get aboard the band wagon, it doubtless arises from the belief that it is safer on the wagon than to take chances of being run over.

Nearly 4000 bankers put themselves on record at the annual meeting of the American Bankers' Association held at Boston in October, as being opposed to the Glass-Owen bill then pending. It is unreasonable to suppose that a complete change of heart should have taken place in the intervening three months. If doing what they are forced to do means that they enthusiastically approve the act, then of course they favor it; but it seems more likely that their changed attitude is that of the philosopher who acquiesces in what he must endure with whatever cheerfulness he can command. How will the new law affect business? None can tell.

"All are hoping for the best and are endeavoring to adjust themselves to the new order of things just as they would to any other stroke of Providence. It may be worth while to observe that the new law does not settle the whole currency problem. We still have the greenbacks and other forms of currency that are not touched by the Reserve Act. It is thus after all a half measure, meant primarily to break the clutch that Wall Street is supposed by many to have on the supply of money and credit. We will have no panic. Business has so accustomed itself to living in the midst of alarms, that a few additional loud noises more or less will have no effect. Twenty years ago, a new tariff law, an income tax and a currency law all in a bunch, would have sent business into convulsions. No convulsion is in sight now."

A. S. BALLARD.

Mr. Armstrong says:

"Editor The Herald:

"In accordance with your request, it gives me pleasure to express my views on the Federal Reserve Bank Act just recently made a law by Congress.

"I think this is probably one of the greatest steps in progress that has been made by these united States in over one-half a century. Yours respectfully.

CHAS. U. ARMSTRONG."

100,000 RATS KILLED; BIG SAVING TO FARMERS.

Findlay, O., Jan. 12.—Within the past three months, through organized hunts for rats in various sections of Hancock county, 103,493 rats have been killed. From a test made several years ago with two rats, an average ear of corn, weighing three-fourths of a pound, lasted each rat three days. At this rate one rat in four months would eat 40 ears, or the 103,493 would consume 23,000 bushels, making the loss to the farmers of Hancock county nearly $11,000.

Barkman, president of the defunct bank; J. C. Smith, vice-president; C. C. Jackson, cashier, and J. H. Mouk, director of the bank at Osborn, were indicted by the Greene county grand jury, which has been investigating the affairs of the bank for several days.

The men were indicted on five counts for receiving deposits in the bank when it is alleged they knew the bank was insolvent.

INTENSE COLD IN OLD WORLD

Paris, France, January 12.—Central Europe is experiencing the most severe winter in several generations. The blizzards of a fortnight ago after abating somewhat, seemed to have returned with renewed vigor. In eastern Russia 150 deaths from the cold were officially reported yesterday and stories of peasants devoured by wolves are numerous. St. Petersburg is in the grip of a three-foot snow with communications almost cut off and food supplies low. A flood is feared along the Rhine. In Switzerland snow has been falling continuously since Friday. The danger from avalanches and floods is regarded as serious.

Jackson, Smith and Barkman were also indicted on 179 separate counts for misapplication of the funds of the bank in regard to the J. G. Russell Company of Dayton.

It is claimed the Osborn bank had accepted 179 separate checks of the J. G. Russell Company for amounts ranging from $1.17 to $883, when, it is alleged, the Russell Company had no account in the bank.

The entire amount of the 179 checks was $10,625.18. The four bank officials are to appear in court Thursday of this week to answer to the indictments.

It is expected before the cases are finished that still more sensational developments will take place.

Local interest in the affairs of the defunct bank has been strong, and one or two former Fayette countians lost when the crash came to the institution.

GREAT MASS MEETING HELD AT GRACE CHURCH.

Intense Interest Manifested in Services Held in Each Church Last Night, and a Great Revival is Thought to Be at Hand—Open Air Services Successful.

(By Hugh C. Weir.)

On the platform of the Grace M. E. church yesterday afternoon, Rev. H. C. Boblitt, of Columbus, held a small bottle of clear water up before an audience of twelve hundred persons that had gathered for the opening mass meeting of the Simultaneous Evangelistic Campaign.

Into the bottle he dropped the contents of a vial of tincture of iodine. As the audience stared, the surface of the water became gradually discolored until it assumed an ugly reddish tinge. Mr. Boblitt was using a parable to emphasize the climax of his sermon, "Sin and Its Cure."

"The pure water," he explained, "may be compared to the purity of the innocent child. It is born into this world guiltless or sin. Gradually, as it matures, we see evil thought and evil suggestion work almost imperceptibly through its life. The transition from purity to the depths of sin may take years. A liar was not made in a day. A thief was not made in a day. Finally the purity of the child is exchanged for the scarlet sin of the man, ugly, revolting. How may this sin be eliminated?"

Dipping his hand into a bowl of water, Mr. Boblitt scoured the exterior of the bottle. The reddish liquid within remained unchanged.

"Sin cannot be driven away by cleansing the outside of the man," he declared. "We must reach down into him. His heart must be changed. This can be accomplished in only one way, by the transforming power of Christ, by the medium of his atoning blood. No life is too degraded, too submerged in sin to be saved by this power. Let us see the result."

From a second vial, the speaker dropped into the bottle of discolored water a solution of hypo-sulphite of sodium. Into the water the chemical worked its way until, like the result of a magician's wand, the red-blurred surface was changed again. Its discoloration fled. Its original purity was restored. Modern chemicals had illustrated vividly the promise and the workings of salvation.

BANNER DAY FOR THE CITY.

Yesterday was a revelation to this city. Not for years have Washington churches seen such a day. It was almost as though the slogan, "Everybody to church" had already been realized. At the afternoon mass meeting it is estimated that an audience of twelve hundred was present. At the evening services there was probably a total attendance at the various churches of at least two thousand. With the morning services, the day's congregation would pass the 4500 mark. These figures are exclusive of the large attendance at the different services through the county. For an hour before the afternoon and evening services the streets were filled with the streams of people going to church. A banner turn-out had been expected, but not even the most sanguine anticipations would have suggested the results that were reached.

The afternoon mass meeting was especially significant. It was under the leadership of Messrs. Boblitt and Thomas, the former delivering the address, and the latter, with Mrs. Thomas, taking charge of the musical service. Mr. Thomas has a wonderful gift in the field of gospel music. As Rev. F. E. Ross expressed it, he is equipped with "faith, sunshine, and enthusiasm". Not only did Mr. Thomas lead in the stirring program of famous gospel songs, but he added the accompaniment of his saxophone to the songs, and contributed a peculiarly touching vocal solo. Mrs. Thomas, as pianist, is by all odds the most effective artist in this line that has ever been heard in this city. The couple will be heard at each of the campaign services at Grace M. E. church.

The address of Mr. Boblitt held his audience with remarkable attention. Mr. Boblitt is a big man, big physically, mentally and spiritually. His engagement during the campaign by the Christian church will undoubtedly be the means of drawing large and enthusiastic audiences. In part, his address was as follows:

"We are brought together in this great meeting by the sense of sin. We feel its blight and curse, and struggle to find a solution for it. Sin has caused nearly every tear that has fallen in the world to be shed. Nearly every heart-ache, most of its pain. Our penitentiaries, jails, work houses, asylums, blind and deaf and dumb institutions are nearly all made necessary by sin. Eighty per cent of all of the degeneracy of the world is caused by the sins of fathers."

"Men have made many abortive attempts to get rid of sin. The pilgrim in India, measuring his length to some distant shrine, is trying to get rid of sin. We see Macbeth steeped in the sin of murder. Look at Macbeth, with his hands dripping with the gore of the slain Duncan, and Lady Macbeth with her fingers stained with the spots that all the waters of Arabia could not cleanse. With them, we go to Buddhism, Brahminism, and the other heathen creeds and ask for a cure for sin. But they are helpless and hopeless. Only in the Book of Books do we find an answer for the cry of the soul."

THE EVENING SERVICES.

The evening services at the various churches were marked by a variety of unusual features. At the Presbyterian Church, the choir was so large that Mr. Gage, the minister, was literally forced out of his rostrum. Among the singers were a number of young men from the shoe factory and chair factory, who have been organized into The Young Man's Choral club, under direction of Mr. L. L.

Bowman, and who will participate in the music through the campaign. Their ability was a revelation and speaks much for the work of Mr. Gage, who has thus roused their interest in the services of the church. Mr. Bowman proved a splendid leader and added a fine solo to the program. In the course of his sermon last night, Mr. Gage said: "Ours is a day seemingly lacking in religious interest. Artifices and devices must be used to fill the pews. We have the spectacle of many churches announcing startling themes, pushing the attraction of moving pictures, giving coffee for the water of salvation, sandwiches for the bread of life, and in it all making a pitiful confession that this is an irreligious age."

At the Christian Church, Mr. Hostetter reviewed a number of instances of the power of the gospel in salvation, comparing the facts of Biblical times with the record of today. "Antioch of the ancient times was much such a cosmopolitan city as our Chicago or New York of today," he said. "And yet we see Antioch swept by a revival which reached every quarter and appealed to every class and every walk of life. We can have just such a result today. The power of the gospel in the salvation of men in just as strong today as it was two thousand years ago."

Mr. Boblitt made the musical service at the Christian Church of unusual interest through his magnetic personality. When the invitation was given at the close of the service, there were four responses.

At the Baptist Church, both the sermon and the music were of especial appeal. Mr. West spoke on the subject, "The Feast of God." He said in part: "The Christian religion stands for life in its best form. Estranged from the Father, man turns into the paths of sin for satisfaction, only to be disappointed. Seeking food, he finds poison. Hoping for life, he finds death."

"God prepares a table on which are the bread and the water of life, where all may feast. The invitation to this feast is world-wide."

At the close of the services, there were three processions.

At the Grace M. E. church, Rev. F. E. Ross spoke on "The Value of a Soul." He said, "The economic loss to society when a working man dies is six hundred dollars. When we think of the eighty thousand men who fill drunkards' graves every year, the economic loss is appalling. And yet it is the least important loss, both to society and to the individual. What of the spiritual loss? God emphasized the value of a human soul when he sent His only son to die for men's sins. Through that sacrifice every man today is a redeemed man. It remains only for him to accept that redemption. God offers it. It is left to the individual whether he will accept it in the spirit in which it is offered."

At the Methodist Church, the musical feature was emphasized. Both Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, who will have charge of the music during the campaign have already shown this city a wonderful ability.

SPECIAL FEATURES.

The executive campaign committee is working night and day in the supreme effort to obtain the greatest results from the remarkable tide of interest that the gospel crusade has already aroused. Several out of the ordinary features are now being planned, which will be announced in the near future.

Campaign post cards are being printed today, which will be displayed tomorrow at the various local stores. There will be two different styles, and others will be prepared in the course of the meetings. These post cards will be sold at cost price, one cent each. A one-cent stamp will carry them through the mails. It is urged that everyone who is interested in the success of the meetings make it a rule to mail at least one of these post cards every day. The cost will be slight, and the benefits should be well worth while.

Plans are also being formulated for the co-operation of the city churches in the meetings throughout the county. A portable organ has been telegraphed for, and it is probable that an automobile of singers and speakers will make special trips through the county. The out-door meetings in the city will also be continued.

AUTO SERVICE A SUCCESS.

It is estimated that between four hundred and five hundred persons heard the two automobile gospel services on Court street Saturday afternoon and evening.

That the community is ready for just such kind of services, and just this kind of a message was shown at the two open air services Saturday. From several viewpoints they gave the public a real sensation, something to think about. And yet curiously enough, there was nothing that could offend the most sensitive taste. The spirit of the leaders and the spirit of the crowd that heard them made any suspicion of vulgar sensationalism impossible.

SERVICE AT COURT HOUSE.

The first service was held at three o'clock when an automobile containing A. F. Hopkins, Charles Morris, Joe Marks and Rev. Hostetter as a quartet, and Rev. Mr. West and F. E. Ross as speakers, whirled up to the court house yard, with the occupants ringing out the words of "Onward, Christian Soldiers!"

The evening automobile service was given at eight o'clock. The machine for the purpose was driven by Mr. Hoppes, and donated by the P. F. Ortmann garage. It contained, in addition to the driver, Messrs. Gage, Hostetter, Hostetter, Jr., Boblitt, of Columbus, and Gilbey Adams. Messrs. Ray Zander, F. E. Ross and John Thomas, the gospel musician, joined the party when the machine paused for the meeting at the corner of Court and Fayette streets. It is estimated that from two hundred to three hundred persons heard the program.

Mr. Boblitt led the singing, and gave vivid evidence of his ability as a leader that promises much for the musical feature of the campaign. Mr. Thomas lent an unique feature to the service with his saxophone, playing a number of famous gospel airs, and asking the audience to join in the singing of the choruses. The first impressions of his ability could hardly have been more favorable.

This newspaper has asked local bankers to express, for publication, their views on the new currency law.

These are busy days for the bankers all over the land and of course local bankers are no exception. In the first place at the beginning of the years bankers are always busier than they are at any other time of the year, under normal conditions, closing up the business of the preceding year and arranging for another year's work.

There are always at the beginning of the year a host of reports and statements to make out and a world of detail work to be attended to and it is really difficult for a banker to find the time during this rush season to undertake to "jot down" anything outside of business in the bank.

Mr. A. S. Ballard, of the Commercial bank, and Mr. Chas. U. Armstrong, of The Washington Savings and Trust Company, have responded to the request of The Herald.

Their views are interesting and instructive.

These men—bankers—should be keen observers of business conditions and closely in touch with the trend of public opinion.

Their views are important in that both recognize in the new currency law a progressive measure—a law that completely revolutionizes the currency system.

The fact that stands out more prominently than any other is that neither one prophecies the least disturbance in business on account of the enactment of the revolutionary currency law. Neither has aught to say in condemnation of the law itself.

Banker-like, neither one is very enthusiastic in praise of the change, which has occurred in the currency system of the nation.

The statement in Mr. Ballard's communication that notwithstanding Congress has enacted in a very short time a new tariff law, an income tax and a new currency law, the business of the country is not going to be thrown into a panic.

Only a few years ago that would not have been possible, Mr. Ballard says, and he is right.

It is the disposition of business men—financial men who, above all others, are more antagonistic to a change—these days to submit to new legislation, and to not permit themselves to be thrown or go voluntarily into a panic every time a change is suggested or made, which is the indisputable evidence of the change that has come.

If from the communications of Mr. Ballard and Mr. Armstrong, Herald readers get no more than a verification of the abiding faith which they hold that such a change has indeed come about in this land, then the men who have so kindly consented to express their views will not have wasted their time.

Manners, Decency and Propriety Are No Longer the Rule, but the Exception

By WILLIAM C. E. NEWBOLT, Canon and Chancellor of St. Paul's Cathedral, London

THERE IS A GENERAL LAXITY OF MANNERS, OF DECENCY AND OF PROPRIETY OVER THE WORLD.

Books are sometimes gravely reprehensible. The modesty of town life has been BREAKING DOWN FOR MANY YEARS. It is not necessary that there should be a great religious upheaval. If people will only return to the ordinary OLD FASHIONED LAWS of conduct and demeanor things will come right again.

We sigh for another Isaiah to denounce the INDECENCIES AND EXTRAVAGANCES OF DRESS. Warning voices are heard about the MODERN DANCE and the lack of refinement, good manners and Christian courtesy.

Vice is common, virtue rare. To follow vice a man has only to let himself go. A man may be a libertine in his private life, but the world asks no questions. He is smart; he is wealthy; he is amusing. If he has powerful friends his misdeeds are concealed.

A MAN RUSHES HERE AND THERE IN A MAD GLUT OF WHAT HE THINKS IS PLEASURE—THEATERS, MUSIC HALLS, RACES AND WORSE. HE IS DRIFTING ON TO THE MIDNIGHT LEAP, THE PISTOL OR THE FATAL DRAFT.

An age which is shocked at the marriage service welcomes for its sons and daughters the sex problem dressed up in all the nauseous unreserve of a society novel.

States Can Best Stop Slaughter of Birds

By Senator GEORGE E. CHAMBERLAIN of Oregon, Father of a Bill to Prevent Slaughter of Birds

THE most effective means to prevent the slaughter of birds and stop the use of plumage is for the STATES TO TAKE AS THEIR CUE THE ATTITUDE OF CONGRESS as expressed in the tariff bill and enact legislation to prevent the possession and use of the prohibited feathers.

About such legislation there can be no doubt and its EFFECTIVENESS WOULD BE APPARENT IMMEDIATELY.

Poetry For Today

ONE STEP AT A TIME.

One step at a time, and that well placed,
We reach the grandest height;
One stroke at a time, earth's hidden stores
Will slowly come to light;
One seed at a time, and the forest grows;
One drop at a time and the river flows
Into the boundless sea.

One word at a time, and the greatest book
Is written and is read;
One stone at a time, and a palace rears
Aloft its stately head;
One blow at a time, and the tree's cleft through,
And a city will stand where the forest grew
A few short years before.

One foe at a time, and he subdued,
And the conflict will be won;
One grain at a time, and the sand of life
Will slowly all be run;
One minute another the hours fly;
One day at a time, and our lives speed by
Into eternity!

One grain of knowledge, and that well stored,
Another, and more on them;
As time rolls on your mind will shine
With many a garnered gem
Of thought and wisdom. And time will tell
"One thing at a time, and that done well,"
Is wisdom's proven rule.

Better Than Calomel

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets. These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lasy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O.

Garrison Says Small Landing Party Could Destroy Waterway.

HE ADVOCATES LARGER ARMY

Big Increase in Size of This Year's Appropriation May Be Carried by the Bill To Be Reported by Chairman Hay of the Military Affairs Committee of the House—Garrison's Recommendations.

Washington, Jan. 12.—As a result of the inquiry conducted by the house committee on military affairs, a big increase in the size of this year's appropriation for the army is expected. Representative Hay of Virginia, chairman of the military affairs committee, said that the bill would be reported to the house just as soon as there was probability of its immediate consideration. Particular emphasis is placed upon this country's responsibility attendant on the operation of the Panama canal.

Both Secretary of War Garrison and General Leonard Wood center all their recommendations about the canal and cite its additional responsibilities as the reason for our present unpreparedness either for offensive or defensive war.

"In the event of war a landing party of small dimensions could explode a comparatively small amount of explosive where any locks and dams are, so that they could completely destroy $375,000,000 worth of work that is a tremendous commercial and military asset."

This is the statement of Secretary of War Garrison regarding the military protection of the isthmian waterway. He says there should be more than 5,000 troops in the canal zone. There are about 100. He states that this nation should have 5,000 men in the Hawaiian Islands. There are less than 2,000 soldiers garrisoned at Hawaii. Mr. Garrison declares that if he sent 10,000 men out of the country our army remaining at home would be far too small for its necessary work even in time of peace. He advocates raising the authorized strength from 85,000 men to 100,000.

"We must send 5,000 men to Panama at once," the secretary said. "They must be there in time of peace—before war is rumored. Now, adays a nation will give no notice of attack. The Japanese gave the Russians no notice. While diplomacy is dealing with international disputes we must do nothing that will indicate that we expect any other than a peaceful conclusion of those troubles. We could not make a military movement. If we sent men to the canal then it would be said we were not acting in good faith. To hold the zone we must have the men there all the time, ready for anything."

ENROLLING VOTERS ON LIQUOR PLEDGE

Columbus, O., Jan. 12.—The fight for nationwide prohibition already has begun, according to F. M. McCartney, former chairman of the Ohio state prohibition committee. The first step is the formation of a voters' enrollment league. Voters are being asked to sign a declaration wherein they promise to vote for no political candidate for any office who fails to declare for the utter destruction of the liquor traffic. According to Mr. McCartney, when 5,000,000 voters are enrolled in the United States in this pledge, a prohibition petition will be presented to the national conventions of the various political parties. If the petition is ignored by the various parties, then there is to be held a national convention of delegates elected by the 5,000,000 prohibition signers. The new convention will declare for nationwide prohibition and will put a complete ticket of candidates in the field.

AMERICAN SEWED UP

Vera Cruz, Mexico, Jan. 12.—Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American charge d'affaires, who has been holding conferences here with John Lind, President Wilson's special envoy, is held up at Orizaba on his way to the capital on account of the fact that the rebels have captured two stations on the line between Vera Cruz and Mexico City.

Five hundred rebels occupy the railroad stations at Botas Alta Luz and Boca Del Monte. These stations are situated between Orizaba and Esperanza and are strategic points, and if the insurgents manage to hold them they will command the heights of Maltrata, which is practically the center of the capital as far as the interoceanic railroad is concerned. It is conceded that it will be very difficult to dislodge the rebels from their position.

RURAL SUPERVISION COST HALF MILLION

Columbus, C., Jan. 12.—Estimates of the cost of rural school supervision in the forthcoming report of the school survey commission are about $500,000 annually, of which the state is to pay one half and the local boards the other half. Minimum salaries, $1,500 for county superintendents and $1,200 for district supervisors, were used in making the estimates. As larger salaries probably will be paid by some counties and districts, the total cost may exceed this mark.

The estimated number of district supervisors is placed at 300, or one supervisor for every 60 teachers. The proposed law specifies the maximum number of teachers per supervisor at 80 and the minimum at 20. On the basis of one supervisor for 48 teachers, the total cost of supervision on the minimum scale would be $672,000.

SOLONS IN FIGHT OVER SMALL P. O.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Representatives Sherwood and Ansberry of the Ninth and Fifth Ohio districts, respectively, have engaged in a lively fight over the Wauseon postmaster-ship. Sherwood claimed the right to name the candidate because the town is now in his district, while Ansberry claims the privilege because Wauseon will be in his district under the new gerrymander. Sherwood stole a march on the defiance statesman, however, and had his candidate, Emil Webber, approved before Ansberry knew what had happened. Now Ansberry has preferred charges against Webber and is insisting upon the appointment of William Kronninger.

HAITIEN REVOLT GROWS RAPIDLY

Kingston, Jamaica, Jan. 12.—The Haitian revolution is spreading all over the black republic, according to news brought by a Haitian steamer which arrived here from Port-Au-Prince. It has reached even the capital, and passengers aboard the steamer say that the Oreste administration can not last more than a few weeks at the outside. Minister of Prædel is besieged by the rebels at Fort Liberté.

M. S. Anan, formerly delegate at Cape Haitien, is considered likely to be the next president. He had a narrow escape from being put to death by the government troops, and is now on his way to this country as a refugee.

STATION ATTACKED

Springfield, O., Jan. 12.—Three men, whose names are unknown, stoned the Thackery station of the Springfield, Troy & Piqua traction line, 15 miles northwest of here. They attempted to shoot Frank Roe, who was in charge. The men started to batter down the door and the dispatcher, Gales Baker of this city, was notified by Roe over the telephone. Roe was ordered to guard the company's property and opened fire on the trio. Two of the men who tried to force admission were shot.

M'BRIDE WINS

Lima, O., Jan. 12.—In the court of common pleas the temporary injunction secured by the county commissioners to prevent Delbert McBride from continuing as superintendent of the Allen county infirmary, was dissolved. The dissolution gives the present incumbent full power to continue in his office and he can now only be removed by cause.

SUNDAY MORNING BLAZE THREATENS CHERRY HOTEL

Quite a little excitement was created at the Cherry hotel Sunday morning between eight and nine o'clock when fire broke out in the boiler room of the big hotel, and it was necessary to call the fire department to extinguish the flames.

It was the first time the new motor fire engine has been called into use, and driver Rogers had the big fire fighter upon the scene in a remarkably short time after the alarm had been turned in, and assisted in extinguishing his first fire.

The fire started in the boiler room where the floor overhead had ignited, and within a short time the building was filled with dense smoke, and excitement ran high.

The hose was attached to a hydrant at the intersection of Main and Market streets, and within a few minutes the fire was out, the work of those handling the hose being effective from the start.

Quite a number of the guests of the hotel hurriedly packed their belongings, ready for a hurried leave of the building if it became necessary. However it was soon evident that the fire was not of a serious nature, although if it had not been discovered soon after the flooring ignited, the blaze might have caused heavy loss before being extinguished.

Much of the smoke and gas during the fire resulted when the water from the hose flooded the boiler fire box, causing the steam, gas, ashes and smoke to pour out in dense clouds.

Precaution has been taken to prevent a recurrence of a fire similar to the one of Sunday morning, and the boiler room is now regarded as being free from fire dangers.

SOUTH TO GET BOREAN BLAST

Washington, January 12.—Freezing weather extending to southern Florida is the prediction of the Weather Bureau for this week.

"The week will open," said the bulletin, "with cold weather in the Northwest, that will extend through the upper lake region and by Tuesday night or Wednesday morning will reach the North Atlantic states, but probably will not extend very far south of the lake region, owing to the prevailing high pressure over the Ohio valley and the Gulf states. There also will be heavy frosts and freezing temperatures Monday and Tuesday over the South Atlantic and Gulf state, and by Tuesday morning the frosts probably will extend over the interior of southern Florida."

"It is not probable that high temperatures will be experienced during the week over the South, but over the North, after the passing of the cold wave now over the Canadian Northwest, there will be a recovery to more moderate temperatures, that will reach the North Atlantic states about Thursday."

JOINT RECITAL

Nellie Melba, the golden voiced soprano and Jan Kubelik, known as the "wizard of the violin" appear in joint recital at Columbus with Edmund Burke, as the first of a series of remarkable concerts at Memorial Hall, is attracting state wide attention. Columbus is the only city in Ohio where these artists will be heard together during 1914. Only the large size of Memorial Hall has made it possible in this instance. The Columbus date is January 27.

Already T. T. Frankenberg, the manager, reports generous orders for season tickets from Zanesville, Newark, Granville, Springfield, Delaware, Westerville, Lancaster and other centers, while points as far distant as Malta, Gallion and Urbana are represented.

Melba is represented by the critics as being in finer voice than ever, this year, and the tour is eclipsing all records for crowds heretofore made. Audiences representing $10,000 and $12,000 are reported, while $8,000 and $9,000 houses are common. Enthusiasm is unbounded, everywhere. One feature that has proved popular is the fact that in her encore numbers, Melba has so frequently responded with music near and dear to the public heart. The same is true of Kubelik.

AMERICAN VILLAGES.

Here is a Writer Who Claims They Are Positively Hideous.

No distinctively American style has arisen, and the average American home remains as ugly and as undistinguished as a Zulu kraal. In its essence it is simply a square box. And from that archetype it proceeds upward, not through degrees of beauty, but through degrees of hideousness. The more it is plastered with ornament the more vulgar and forbidding it becomes. The more it is adorned with color the more that color becomes a madness, a debauch, a public indecency.

Take a train ride through any American state and you will be sickened by the chaotic ugliness of the flitting villages—houses sprawling and shapeless, a huge advertising sign upon every flat wall, an intolerable effect of carelessness, ignorance, squalor, bad taste and downright viciousness.

But make the same sort of journey through France or Germany—say from Bremen to Munich or from Paris to Lyons—or through Austria or Italy or Switzerland, and you will be charmed by the beautiful harmony visible on all sides, the subordination of details to general effects, the instinctive feeling for color, the sound grouping, the constant presence of a tradition and a style. The design of the peasant houses changes twenty times between the Westphalian plain and the foothills of the Alps, but in every change there is a subtle reflection of the physical environment, an unmistakable expression of human aspiration, worldly estate and character.

I don't know any ugly village between Bremen and Munich, nor even a village without its distinction, its special beauty, its individual charm. But I don't know of a village between Washington and Chicago that is not frankly appalling.—Smart Set.

J. Peter of Chicago, Mrs. E. C. Denton and Mrs. Pratt.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune, Sunday.

The Young Matrons' Auction Bridge club was pleasantly entertained by Mrs. Louise Potter Saturday afternoon.

A notable affair of the past week in Chillicothe society is chronicled in the Daily Scioto Gazette and is of local interest, the hostess being a sister of Mr. Will Campbell, of this city, and Mr. Clifford Campbell, who recently returned from Berlin, Germany, an honor guest.

"Mrs. D. H. Roche, Jr.'s tea and musicale, provided the necessary brilliant function to complete the holiday social calendar, which has recorded many charming events but none surpassing that of yesterday. The hours were from five to seven, during which about sixty callers were received by the hostess and her brother, Mr. Clifford Campbell, a brilliant young pianiste, who is returning soon to Berlin to make his debut, after which he will tour South America in concert. Mr. Campbell charmed the guests with his rendition of a group of numbers after the style of Gluck, including Arabesque—Schumann, Etude—Henselt, Gavotte—D'Albert. No less artistic was his interpretation of Rachmaninoff's Prelude. Mr. Campbell's extraordinary talents have developed wonderfully under the study of eminent artists in the German musical center and his musical artistry places him in the front ranks of pianistic students. Many predictions of a future of brilliant success have been forecasted for the young performer, and if one is to judge by his splendid technique and tone they are certain of realization. The Roche home on west Fourth street was embowered with a wealth of the offerings of the floral kingdom for this notably beautiful affair.

Mrs. Roche, whose rare personality bespeaks cordiality more eloquently than mere words can express it, was wearing an exceedingly becoming gown of blue accordean pleated chiffon with touches of pink, the whole contrasting charmingly and likewise with the rosy hues of the appointments.

Her sister, Miss Frances Campbell of Bainbridge, was gowned in yellow, charmed with drapery and bodice embellishment of beaded net.

Assisting otherwise were Louise Secret and Virginia Campbell, of Washington C. H. She and Miss Sue Lanus were the only guests present from a distance."

The Elmwood Ladies' Aid Society held their January meeting with Mrs.

Ezra Fultz, Mrs. Goffner and Ferguson, assisting.

The guests included Mr. D. Webster Ellis and sons, Walter and Ernest, Mr. D. W. Ellis.

The marriage of Mrs. Iva Mote, daughter of Mr. Wm. Miller, of this city, now making her home in Dayton, to Mr. Daniel Derher, of Dayton, last Wednesday will be of interest to Washington friends.

Mr. Derher is connected with the National Cash Register in Dayton, in which city Mr. and Mrs. Derher will make their future home.

Mrs. A. C. Henkle will entertain the ladies of the Women's Guild of the Presbyterian church, with a Kensington at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Gifford, of Grand Rapids, Mich., were guests of honor at an informal little dance, participated in by fifteen couples of young society people at the I. O. O. F. hall Saturday evening.

Whelpley and Miller furnished excellent music and the new fancy dances were specially featured.

Mr. Chas. Phillips gave a delightful little "500" party Saturday night in honor of his attractive guests, Miss Marguerite Phillips, of Xenia and Miss Adele Kauffman, of Dayton.

HIS VISIT TO MORGAN.

There Wasn't Much Said, but It Was All Right to the Point.

A well known insurance official said the other day at the Auditorium, in Chicago:

"In the beginning of my career, when I was only a humble insurance agent, I gained access one morning to the august and formidable presence of J. Pierpont Morgan."

"No!"

"Yes," the official insisted—"yes, it's a fact. Don't ask me how I did it, though, for that's a secret. But at 10 o'clock one morning behold me, a young insurance agent, standing before the desk of the great J. Pierpont with my big envelope of life and death statistics, twenty year endowments and so forth, in my hand. I was, I have since learned, the first and only insurance agent who ever managed to meet Mr. Morgan face to face."

"Well, what happened?"

"Mr. Morgan," I began hurriedly, "you ought to carry more life insurance. You see, sir—"

"And lucidly and cogently and briefly, wasting no words, I laid my insurance proposition before the great financier."

"He listened in silence. Those serene blue eyes of his bored through me like lances. When I stopped at last all he said was:

"How did you get in here?"

"I walked in," I answered.

"Well," said he, "walk out."—New York Tribune

Legislation Ahead of a Diversified Character and Marks the Carrying Out of Measures of Vast Importance To Farmers, Manufacturers, and Citizens in General—$1,000,000,000 To be Expended.

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—Congress got back to work again today after a holiday play spell. In the House, promptly at noon Speaker Clark dropped his gavel, and a similar scene was enacted in the Senate with Vice-President Marshall in the chair. Fresh from a vacation which followed nine months of tariff and currency members of both Houses returned refreshed and ready for work at a new point in the Democratic administration.

For the first time since President Wilson ordered the special session last April, Congress was without the overshadowing influence of any single dominant issue such as tariff or currency reform, to be fought out to the exclusion of other business.

As a result, the work of the next few months in national legislative halls is expected to cover a wide range of subjects. Anti-trust legislation remains as an important factor in President Wilson's legislative program, that must be considered by Congress, but it will not displace other important legislation, as did the bills for tariff and currency revisions.

Four general subjects will embrace much of the work of Senate and House during the coming months. They are:

Control of trusts and monopolies, including legislation to prevent cold storage manipulation, unfair price cutting, and other abuses directly affecting retail business.

Rural credits, and other legislation directly affecting farmers and land owners, such as good road improvement and federal aid to vocational and agricultural education.

Strengthening of the national defense, through measures such as the "volunteer army bill," already passed by the House; the Hay bill to create a new aviation division in the army; the Padgett bill to put the naval militia on a war footing; the Hobson bill for a counsel of National Defense; and the general administration program for a two-battleship addition to the navy;

Passage of the annual appropriation bills, carrying more than $1,000,000,000 for support of the government, and containing many items of general legislation that must be fought over in House and Senate.

Aside from those general subjects, Congress will take up early in the session the settlement of labor problems of far-reaching importance. Members of both Houses have announced their plans to call for federal investigation of the strike in the Calumet copper mining region and the forcible removal from Michigan of Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners. Government ownership of railroads as proposed in the Alaskan railway bills will be forced upon the attention of members of both houses as soon as they take up work.

President Wilson's influence is strongly behind the plan for a system of rural banks and credit associations; and that project is expected to vie with trust questions, in the attention that will be given to it by the administration.

With the prospects of a hard congressional campaign next summer and fall, the Democratic forces are anxious to add the rural credit laws, and several effective trust statutes, to the record of legislation with which they can go before the voters. From the outset of work leaders in both Houses will attempt to guide legislation so that appropriation bills can be completed early in the spring, and other important measures disposed of in time to permit an early adjournment.

Woman's suffrage will also give both branches of Congress a busy time. Advocates of a constitutional amendment permitting women to vote have massed their forces in Washington, and are preparing for a concentrated attack on Senate and House, aided by many senators and representatives who favor general suffrage and who will advocate some positive action by Congress endorsing it.

The scope of trust legislation probably will not be fully outlined for several weeks.

Congress has taken up the problems of national defense with unusual activity since December 1. The imminence of a crisis in this country's relations with Mexico has made more apparent the weakness of the military system of the country; and important steps have already been made toward strengthening the power of the President and the executive branches of the Government, to cope with sudden emergencies.

The volunteer army bill, which passed the House and is favorably regarded in the Senate, would provide effective machinery for the raising of volunteer forces in any emergency. The Hay aviation bill, which has the endorsement of the House Military Affairs committee, and of the War Department, would create an aviation branch of the army capable of handling at least 24 aeroplanes, and of training efficient forces of air fighters. These and other bills will be given unusual prominence during the balance of this session of Congress.

Diplomatic relations with Nicaragua and other Central American countries may give further trouble to the Senate. The first Nicaraguan treaty outlined by Secretary Bryan did not meet with the approval of the Senate committee on Foreign Relations, because of the protectorate it would have established over the southern Republic. The project is to be taken up again during the coming months; and it is expected that a general policy toward Central American countries will be outlined by the Senate, President Wilson and Secretary Bryan.

Huerta and Uncle Sam May Have to Deal With Him.

MOVES ARMY AGAINST TORREON

Rebel Commander Will Next Attempt to Reduce Federal Stronghold South of Chihuahua—Federal Refugees From Ojinaga Under Protection of the United States—Details of the Fall of Federal Garrison.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Brief official reports were received here of the taking of Ojinaga by General Villa and his forces in northern Mexico. The result was no surprise to administration officials in touch with the Mexican situation.

Major McNamee, commanding at Presidio, the Texas town opposite Ojinaga, reported through General Bliss at San Antonio that detachments of the federal garrison had come over and were being rounded up and disarmed as rapidly as possible.

The soldiers, as well as their commanding officers, are reported to have readily surrendered themselves, making no effort to avoid the United States army patrols or to keep their arms. All will be detained indefinitely on the United States side of the line and cared for at the expense of this government. If the policy of the last two years is adhered to in their case, the federals will be allowed to filter back into Mexico as soon as there is no danger of their meeting death on return to Mexican territory. General Villa has declared he will execute all federal volunteers whom he can capture.

According to the understanding here the fighting at Ojinaga did not amount to much. The federals, it is understood, had no ammunition, and so were not able to repeat their defense of the town during the four days' battle of two weeks ago.

It is presumed that Villa will now gather his forces together and begin a movement to the south. The taking of Ojinaga has again emphasized the fact that whatever has been accomplished for the revolution in the last few weeks has been done by Villa. There is no doubt in official quarters here that Villa, and not Carranza, will be the man with whom Huerta and also the United States will have to deal with in case of further successes being gained by the Constitutionalist forces.

Wants Refugees Removed.

Presidio, Tex., Jan. 12.—Major McNamee, through Brigadier General Bliss, requests the removal of the Mexican refugees from here, because the accommodations are inadequate. He has in charge 2,800 federal soldiers, six Mexican generals, 200,000 rounds of ammunition, two cannon, four large field pieces and 1,500 civilian refugees.

TORREON NEXT

Presidio, Tex., Jan. 12.—Rebels have removed the bodies of men and animals killed Saturday during the battle from the streets of Ojinaga and have the little town already well policed, in anticipation of its occupancy by a permanent garrison.

It is General Villa's intention to start the greater portion of his army on its march toward Falomir at once. Thousands of them will soon be headed southward to take trains for Torreon, with a view towards bringing that federal stronghold under subjection at the earliest possible moment. All the federals in Chihuahua state having now been disposed of.

Federal General Francisco Castro declared that his men deserted when the rebels began charging and that was impossible to hold them, but the men insist that they ran out of ammunition and were told by their officers that they might make their way to the United States as rapidly as possible.

Major Mondoza of the federals was

LITTLE STORIES ABOUT OHIO

By CHARLES E. CHIDESTER

THE WOMAN'S TEMPERANCE CRUSADE

Ohio women in 1873-1874 conducted a militant crusade against the liquor traffic.

One of the net results was the conversion of the saloonkeeper, who was known as the "wickedest man in Ohio," into a temperance lecturer.

The crusade began in Hillsboro, the latter part of December, 1873, and spread rapidly, extending even into adjoining states. Little progress was made in larger cities but in the smaller cities, towns and villages, the movement was effective.

In many cases 50 and 100 women would march through the streets stopping at each saloon where they would ask permission to hold religious service within. This denied, they would kneel outside, regardless of mud, snow or slush, sing hymns and pray. Usually husbands, sons and brothers looked on from nearby curbs.

John Calvin VanPelt, a New Vienna saloonkeeper, known as the "wickedest man in Ohio," furnished the women with the subject of the most stubborn fight but ultimately most notable victory of the crusade. When they asked VanPelt to hold service in his "Dead Fall" saloon, he threatened to hang, draw and quarter them if they entered again. The next day he decorated his saloon window with flasks of whiskey and a blood bespattered axe.

The women were undaunted, but when they entered he showered them with a bucket of dirty water. VanPelt was arrested and jailed but finally released. He attended meetings of the crusaders and wittily debated the temperance question. Finally he offered to sell out for $95 but was refused.

He permitted the women to enter on condition that he be allowed to make a prayer for every one they uttered. His remarks were blasphemous and insulting. The crusaders were horrified at his language.

Before the week was over VanPelt "surrendered." Gathering at the call of a handbill, the people closed their homes and stores and saw VanPelt knock the heads out of his liquor barrels. He signed the pledge and that night made a temperance speech. He said he had yielded to the labor of love of the women.

The crusade continued several months and then died out.

CONSPIRACY ON CLAIM BRYANITES

Washington, Jan. 12.—That the big "interests" have combined to underwrite a large fund to be used for the purpose of eliminating William J. Bryan from the councils of President Wilson, is the charge made here by some of the most intimate friends of the secretary of state.

It is said by the men that there is in existence positive proof of the making up of a "war fund" for financing a systematic and country-wide attack on Mr. Bryan as a member of the Wilson administration. It is charged that most of the individuals, corporations and financial institutions usually associated with the Democratic use of the term "money trust" and "big interests" are lined up in support of the combination against Mr. Bryan. The object of the conspiracy is asserted to be the discrediting of Mr. Bryan both in Washington and with the people of the country so as to make it impossible for him to retain his place in the Wilson cabinet.

This movement against Mr. Bryan was put on an organized basis, it is charged, at the moment that he loomed up as a possibility in the Wilson cabinet. Since March 4 last, so it is charged, the object has been to make up for the failure to keep him out of the cabinet if possible by forcing him from the administration. This they have sought to do, it is asserted, by agitating the possibilities of a break between the president and his secretary of state. The operations of the conspiracy, it is alleged, have been of an insidious nature.

NEW HAVEN PLANS

Washington, Jan. 12.—In compliance with Attorney General McReynolds' demands the New Haven will dispose of its holdings in the Boston & Maine railroad, cancel its joint agreement controlling the Boston & Albany, give up its trolley lines and several of its steamship lines. The question of its retention of the so-called Sound Line of steamships will be left for the present, at least, to the interstate commerce commission.

L. O. T. M.

The Ladies of the Maccabees will have a call meeting at the Eagles' Hall Monday, January 12th, 2 o'clock for the purpose of moving to another all. Each lady is requested to be present.

THAW IS SANE AND RELEASED

Would Not Be a Public Menace, Commission Reports.

FINDING SUBMITTED TO COURT

Prisoner Reported as Not Now Suffering With Any of the Mental Diseases From Which He Was Suffering When He Slew Stanford White. Will Be Liberated by Federal Court On Bail.

Concord, N. H., Jan. 12.—The commission appointed by Judge Aldrich of the United States court to reach a finding as to whether it would be a public menace to liberate Harry K. Thaw on bail, pending a final decision in his case in the federal court, reached a conclusion and filed same in writing with the clerk of the United States court in this city. The report of the commission was made public later, and its conclusion is couched in these words:

"In our opinion it is reasonably probable that Harry Kendall Thaw's liberty under bail would not be dangerous or a menace to the public peace and safety."

The commission further states by its written report that the members have formed a unanimous and positive opinion as to the state of Thaw's mind at the time of the homicide, but refrains from expressing that opinion because the scope of its inquiry does not permit of a finding or an opinion on this point.

The report, which is an exhaustive one, is addressed to Judge Aldrich, and signed by all the members of the commission.

Mental examinations of Thaw were made by the commission during four days in December and from time to time afterward. The report says these examinations "covered a searching inquisition into all the acts of his life, including a review of his statements made in the various cross-examinations referred to. They also included an examination of his present and former mental attitudes with reference to all his acts."

The commission finds Thaw is not now afflicted with any of the mental diseases from which he was suffering when he slew Stanford White.

Neither Harry Thaw, nor his mother, who is here, would make any statement, saying they are acting by advice of counsel. Both, however, were evidently pleased.

EVELYN TALKS

St. Louis, Jan. 12.—Advised that the New Hampshire commission has decided it would be safe to free Harry K. Thaw, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, at a local theater, declared: "I know something terrible will happen soon. Shall I do anything to protect myself? No. It is fate. I know that man. I do not fear him. His antipathy is not against me personally, but against my profession. He would be all right if he would keep away from drink. But he can't do it. His mother nor no one can manage him. He will soon make for the bright lights and the wine and you will hear from him."

B. F. KEITH'S

It is a matter of interest to theatergoers, not only in Columbus, but to those residing in every town within reach of Columbus, that the two distinguished foreign actresses, Madame Olga Petrova, and Miss Valerie Bergere will both appear at B. F. Keith's Theater, twice daily during the week of Jan. 19. Miss Bergere will appear in her own act, "The Broadway Camille," in which she will be supported by Mr. Herbert Warren, and other capable actors. This is the story of a beautiful girl who became the model for a young artist. There is, of course, a love story, in which comedy and tragedy are closely blended.

Madame Petrova has an offering alone, in which she runs the entire gamut of human emotions. She gives bits of dramatic classics, then, without a second's hesitation, she goes into light comedy and back to tragedy. Her imitations are matchless and her stage presence not only regal but wonderfully impressive. Madame Petrova has a wonderful amount of personal magnetism, and her voice is most ingratiating, whether in comedy or pathos. The gowns worn by Petrova are the last word in the latest styles of Paris. It was but a fortnight ago that Petrova returned from Europe with such a collection of handsome creations, that the Custom Officials remarked on their richness and enriched the government by many dollars in collecting duties thereon.

Miss Tina, the graceful gymnast, also a foreign performer, will make her first appearance in Columbus next week.

William A. Weston, assisted by Miss Franklyn Mae, will present "Attorneys" as an extra added attraction. This is an offering filled with surprises. It is not fair, to tell in advance, just what these surprises are to be, for that would take the edge off the act. It is sufficient, however, to state that this act is the only one of its kind on the stage and is one of the genuine hits of the year.

Other acts will be added to this bill, and it will be one of the biggest attractions of the season.

DIES ON WAY TO MOTHER'S FUNERAL

Springfield, O., Jan. 12.—While on the way to attend the funeral of her mother, Mrs. Ida C. Hamilton, wife of a farmer living near here, fell dead from apoplexy. Mrs. Hamilton, with her husband, had just started in a buggy for the home of her mother when she became ill. She died before she could be carried into the house. A double funeral was then arranged.

Emperor William of Germany is reported to be showing his old age, but it is not likely that any of his people are calling him "the old man."

ANTI-TRUST BILLS NOT IN EVIDENCE

Washington, D. C., January 12.—Congress got back to work today fresh from the holiday vacation to be greeted by the usual avalanche of bills and resolutions. TRYING TO CURE AN "UPSIDE DOWN" YOUTH

Physicians Interested in Peculiar Case of Detroit Boy.

Detroit, Mich.—Physicians throughout the country are interested as to the experiments which are to be made to try to cure Joseph W. Darling of this city. The boy is suffering from an unusual malady which results in his writing and drawing everything upside down. Everything reverses itself to his vision, and it is believed that a surgical operation will be able to remedy the ailment.

The leading physicians of the city are taking a great interest in the boy, and several schemes are being worked out in the hope of bettering the boy's sight and making his vision in every way normal. Dr. W. P. Melody, city physician, is convinced that the ailment comes from a lesion of the brain as a result of an accident, and the boy is to be treated by him first to give him an opportunity to disprove or substantiate that theory.

Joseph is a remarkably intelligent boy. He is nine years old, but his physical development is that of a boy of four, as he has spent months at a time in various hospitals following an accident which affected his sight and ruined his health. This happened when he was two and a half years old. He was lifted from the floor by his head by a caller at his home and so injured that his neck and spine became practically useless. Abscesses formed at either side of his neck, and his spine finally developed a bad curvature.

The boy was treated at a local hospital for nearly a year following the mishap, and, as in that time he did not have one sound sleep because of his pain, the physicians were assured that he could not live and had him taken to his home to die.

It was not until Joseph was well enough to go to school that it was found that his sight was affected. He was an apt pupil, but his teachers sent word to Mrs. Webb that he insisted upon fooling at his work and did everything upside down. He protested that he was doing the best that he could and insisted that he never had written or drawn anything upside down since he had been at the school. They asked him then if he knew what upside down meant. He said yes and immediately drew a picture as it should be, right side up.

"That," said he, "is upside down, and I never do my work that way."

Continued surveillance convinced his teachers that the boy was suffering with some defect of vision, and since that time he has been examined by almost all of the physicians in Detroit, all of whom have been unable to say just what causes the ailment.

CITY PEOPLE DIE EARLIEST IN LIFE

Interesting Statistics Presented by Census Bureau.

UPHOLD THEORIES OF OSLER

Man's Vitality Sapped in the Larger Communities—Comparative Number of Deaths at Various Ages in Leading Cities of United States—Refreshing Contrast Offered by the Country.

Washington.—The census bureau makes public figures which appear to corroborate the contention of Dr. William Osler that a man in the city is near the end of his prime at forty years and cannot on the average "come back" after that. In the olden days the prime of life was the period from thirty-five to fifty-four years, but nowadays, under the stress and strain of competition, the prime of life in the cities and in the factory districts has been moved ten years nearer the cradle.

This fact is shown by a study of the comparative number of deaths at various ages per thousand of population. For instance, in the city of Greater New York the number of those who die between the ages of twenty-five and forty-four is only thirty-eight per thousand of population, whereas the number who die between thirty-five and fifty-four years of age is sixty-three. Other American cities show the same statistics. Thus:

	Deaths at 25 to 44 years.	Deaths at 35 to 54 years.
Boston	39	63
New York	38	63
Chicago	37	61
St. Louis	37	62
Philadelphia	37	58
San Francisco	36	63
Newark, N. J.	35	59

The rural communities offer a refreshing contrast to the cities in respect to the "come back" period of life. In Indiana, for instance, the number of people who die when between twenty-five and forty-four years per thousand of population is thirty-one as against thirty-nine who die when thirty-five to fifty-four years old. In Vermont the number is thirty-two as against thirty-nine; in Maine it is thirty as against thirty-seven.

The states where factory conditions prevail show the marked rise in mortality after forty years. Thus in Massachusetts the mortality at the twenty-five to forty-four-year period is thirty-six as against fifty-one at the thirty-five to fifty-four-year period. In Rhode Island the corresponding figures are thirty-nine and sixty.

The same conditions prevail in Europe, where the deaths at the two age periods are as follows: Russia, 39 and 59; Austria, 39 and 56; Prussia, 39 and 48; Scotland, 36 and 56; France, 36 and 50; England and Wales, 31 and 53; Belgium, 29 and 44.

In pastoral countries, where most of the people live in the open air, the prime of life lasts into "green old age." In Holland the deaths at the two periods named are 28 and 39; in Sweden, 28 and 37; in Denmark, 25 and 38.

The vitality of the young men differ somewhat as between one state and another in the United States, but the differences are not as marked in this country as they are in Europe.

Perhaps the strangest data collected by the census bureau are in regard to Bulgaria. Wonderful stories of the old age attained by Bulgarians, owing to their sour milk diet, have been told in the American papers, but, according to the census figures fewer persons survive to the age of seventy-five in Bulgaria than in any other country in Europe or in any state or any big city in the United States.

Heart disease, the latest tabulated census returns show, is the greatest single cause of death in the United States. Exactly one-tenth of all the people in the registration area of the country perished in 1911 from ailments of that great organ of the body. The registration area for 1911 covered 87.2 per cent of the area and 63.1 per cent of the population of the Union.

LITTLE GIRLS RUN SOUTHERN FARMS

One In Arkansas Takes Horse's Place In the Harrow.

STORIES OF THEIR INTEREST

Department of Agriculture Successful In Arousing Enthusiasm of Young People In Scientific and Practical Methods of Farming—One Drags Rails Down Mountain For Fence.

Washington.—Many human interest stories of girls and boys in the south are being sent to the department of agriculture by its field agents engaged in demonstration work among juvenile clubs.

From Alabama came this story: "One girl who lives on top of a mountain cleared and fenced her own plot, dragging rails, one at a time, down the mountainside. As she lives alone with her grandmother, she had no one to plow for her, so she and her grandmother dug the plot up with a grubbing hoe. She split her ankle with the ax while chopping stakes for her plot."

This story came from an agent in Arkansas: "Etta, Ealy and Ora Red have moved on their own farm too late for early tomatoes. They have planted bunch beans, after which they will raise late tomatoes. Their father died in February, leaving their mother with eight children. These girls, with a fourteen-year-old brother, will run the farm. It seemed as if the father could have been the least spared of any man in the country."

"One little Arkansas girl, with the aid of her sister, used a small harrow such as is used for cotton beds to harrow the space between the rows of tomatoes in their canning club plot. One girl took the place of the horse in the harrow while the other occupied the place of the driver."

A report from Georgia says: "A little girl of Upstate deserves special mention. Her parents are poor but good people of fine sense. She went to school, stood at the head of her class; did all the work of her patch except plowing, working morning and evening; borrowed money for canner and cans and has put up 500 cans of tomatoes and 200 cans of blackberries, besides a variety of sauces, pickles, jellies and preserves for home and market purposes."

"Three-fourths of the members of the Girls' Tomato clubs visited this week are regular 'hands' on their fathers' farms," writes an agent of South Carolina. "One girl is twelve years old and weighs 108 pounds. She told me she learned to plow two years ago, when her father was a cripple. She prepared her one-tenth acre with a two-horse plow, hauled her fertilizer, scattered, bedded, transplanted, hoed and plowed it without any help at all. When I went to her tomato garden, about a half mile from her home, I found it to be in a very productive state."

LAMP SHEDS PINK GLOW.

Neon Gas Appliance Is Suitable For Milady's Dainty Boudoir.

London.—Much discussion is going on concerning the new neon lamp, which gives out a beautiful rose-pink color peculiarly suitable for boudoirs and tea rooms.

Neon, which is an atmospheric gas, was discovered by the English scientist, Sir William Ramsay. It is said to possess the property of allowing an electric current to traverse it under certain conditions of pressure and temperature and of turning a large proportion of it into the rose-pink light.

Cheer Up.
"I sometimes wonder if life is worth living," mused the pessimist.
"It is," replied the optimist. "It is worth living much better than most of us live it."—Lippincott's.
